Lottery hunters pour into store

HAVERHILL residents hoping lottery luck will rub off on them are flocking to the store where Adrian Bayford scooped £148 million.

Adrian and his wife, Gillian, have been back in their Haverhill music shop Suffolk Music Centre in Queen Street after landing the August jackpot.

They won the second biggest EuroMillions payout in the UK – behind Ayrshire couple Colin and Chris Weir, who scooped £161.6 million in July 2011.

And it seems Adrian's good fortune has spread to other customers at Premier convenience store where he bought the lucky ticket after a series of wins at the Queen Street shop.

Owner Paresch Patel said: "People just keep winning and winning. We had someone win £50,000 at the Murco garage in Haverhill just after Adrian won, and since then in this shop we've had a series of winners on scratch cards. We had two £500s in one week and we had someone win either £50 or £5,000 two weeks ago – he won't tell us which.

"Lottery ticket sales have gone way up with people coming in to see if a bit of Adrian's luck will come to them.

BY RAYMOND BROWN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"The Lottery did give us a sign to put on the floor where Adrian stood when he bought the winning ticket, but that's all we got from them."

And one customer keeps on trying to win at the store but has had no luck so far. Fernandez Armenio, 40, of Abington Court, said: "Adrian got there just before me and every time someone wins again I just miss out. The wrong people are winning. It should be me."

While Adrian may have become an overnight multi-millionaire but it seems he still likes looking for a bargain. He has been spotted in the town's Poundland and charity shops since scooping the cash.

Erica Campbell, manager of Debra charity shop which raises money to battle a genetic skin disorder, said: "He has been in the shop a couple of times since he won the lottery but didn't buy anything. He's obviously still up for a bargain, though."

Mr Patel said: "Adrian hasn't changed his lifestyle. He is still seen shopping in Poundland and Primark. We just don't see him in here anymore."

The win put the couple in 516th position in the Sunday Times Rich List, with more money than Sir Tom Jones or former Beatle Ringo Starr.

Just here: shop owner Paresch Patel shows the spot where £148m was won.

FIRSTLY, I would like to congratulate both Matthew Hancock MP, now Under Secretary for Business and Education, and Mark Prisk MP, now Minister of State for Housing, on their recent promotions following the government reshuffle – maybe the interviews they did for me on behalf of the Haverhill Weekly News had some influence!

The interviews brought out a positive energy and a passion in their careers which has now been recognised.

It was certainly nice to see that David Cameron is an avid reader of the Weekly News and in particular my business column!

Unfortunately, the leader of the council, John Griffiths, had to cancel my interview with him at the very last minute so I would like to take this opportunity of thanking Carly Taylor for stepping in with her contribution.

However, I hope my readers know me well enough by now to know that I will be continuing to try to arrange a further appointment with Mr Griffiths as, although I appreciate he is a busy man, it is vital local dignitaries explain the plans

This month Robin, a director of the town's CXG Property Services, looks at the issues facing small businesses and interviews Carly Taylor of Social Diva.

To have a say and get involved, email robin@cxggroup.co.uk they have for us as a community, and the reasons behind them.

This is what our Prime Minister means when he speaks of the 'big society'. I know that you, the readers, have been interested in the interviews so far, judging by the positive responses I have received – so watch this space!

I am sure you have all been following the party political conferences closely over the past few weeks.

The pressure small businesses are being put under to help turn the economy round was noted from all political parties.

It is clear they realise small businesses are an important component in revitalising the economy by creating jobs and opportunities that will return the country to growth.

I agree that it will be small businesses, through their entrepreneurial mindset and innovative ideas that will assist in fixing the situation created by the banks and the previous government, and for which we are all now all paying the price.

However, this will not be done by kind words and cheering from the side-lines alone. What we need is action, and a climate created that supports us both financially and sees the cutting of unnecessary red tape and bureaucracy.

Are there any entrepreneurs who influence political parties for example? It can be all too easy, if you have a cosseted civil service or banking job, to put pressure on small businesses to revitalise the economy.

However if we in small businesses do stimulate the economy and get growth in the right direction will any credit come to us or will it be claimed by the politicians?

We can only hope, with the new initiatives spoken about at the conferences, a joined-up approach between us and government will be formed to achieve these laudable aims.

The political parties need to hear, loud and clear, that small businesses will innovate, create and often risk everything to build our businesses. Not in the pursuit of money or fame (except for me maybe!) but because it is in our blood to work day and night to try to create profitable and sustainable businesses.

We need the 'powers that be' to 'get it' as it is tough to stay focused on our vision.

It would be nice to see, as we continue on our difficult journeys, not only an occasional pat on the back, but also the pushing through of practical solutions to the issues faced by small businesses.

A good first step would be getting the banks to actually start lending to us again as it appears they have billions of pounds put aside for this purpose but I do not know of one small business that has been able to access these funds.

Well let's hope, with Mr Cameron apparently reading my column, and Matthew and Mark now part of the government team, that between us we can push the country in the right direction!

See you next month!

Q&A: Carly Taylor, businesswoman

When did you start your business?

I started 'officially' helping small businesses and large corporate companies in 2011 with my business partner Sarah Bradden. I say officially as this is when we set up the Ltd Company and bought the trademark for UK and Europe. Before this we started a blog for women entrepreneurs to market and brand their business on the internet and turned our knowledge into e-learning with a membership site and digital products.

What was your reasons and motivation?

I have always been entrepreneurial as my dad has his own business and a few family members have too. Working for Play.com for several years I developed my entrepreneurial spirit as it was encouraged there and decided that I really wanted to be my own boss and inspire my son Brandon to do the same.

Inspiring people to start their own business and work with what they are passionate about is what motivates me on a daily basis.

What is your business?

My business is called Social Diva and we are a marketing & social media consultancy. We offer bespoke services tailored to build your business brand and increase your leads, clients and customers. Embracing the power of the internet, we not only help you bring your business to life (or grow it if you are already established) but we provide you with a winning marketing strategy that gets results. We also create easy to manage, affordable websites, provide search engine optimization to get your site ranked in Google, create Facebook 'websites', Facebook Ads management and reputation management which is where we help your company to always look good when someone is searching for it in the search engines, and removing any negative media/articles.

What differentiates you from your competitors?

We set ourselves apart from the competition with a recognised brand and reputation and excellent customer service focus. Your needs are the most important part to the success and growth of our business. In just under a year we have worked with some big worldwide established brands. We work together to create an overall solution for business owners to build their brand the smart way online. We also feel that our fees are reasonable for the quality of work and provided.

How do you measure your success?

By the feedback we are given from our clients. If they are happy and getting results in their business then so are we. In terms of financial growth we have a yearly goal plan and aim to get a certain amount of clients each month to hit our yearly target.

Up, up and away for Alex

Teen is UK's youngest glider soloist

A MAGNIFICENT teen in a flying machine is the first under 16 in the UK to fly solo in a glider.

Alex Harris, 15, of Tilbury Juxta Clare, near Halstead, has achieved a first for the UK flying solo in a glider at Ridgewell on October 10.

His pioneering flight came after the British Gliding Association announced a change in the regulations to drop the age in which youngster can go it alone from 16 to 14.

Alex, a member of Essex Gliding Club for two years, is a keen skier and wants to become an airline pilot.

He had wasted no time before making his historic flight, in a club ASK-13 glider, as the rule lowering the glider solo age had only been approved three days earlier.

Alex, who has been flying since he was 12, said: "Gliding is my life and, although I had had 60 hours with an instructor, my first solo was the most nerve-racking thing I have ever done."

It wasn't long before Alex, who lives at Halstead and is a pupil at Gosfield School, was back in the air, however. Three days later he had his first flight in a single seat glider, a Ka 6CR.

BY RAYMOND BROWN

Email: editorial@elyweeklynews.co.uk

Alex comes from a family of aviators. His father, Mike, is also a glider pilot and, as his day job, flies 737s for Titan Airways while mother Sue has a private pilots licence.

The young flyer aims to follow in his father's footsteps.

He said: "I am going to be a pilot when I leave school so this is a big step in the right direction. I am so grateful to Essex Gliding Club for giving me this opportunity to fly."

Essex Gliding Club's chief flying instructor, Dave Hertzberg, said: "Alex is a very level-headed young man and I had total confidence that he would handle the situation well. The gliding club is always open to anybody who wants to try this great sport."

Steve Rhenius, treasurer of Essex Gliding Club, said: "He was ready to fly solo on his 16th birthday in December but when the gliding association changed the rules he couldn't wait any longer and he was bursting at the seams to go solo. He did it and landed safely. He was brilliant."

Head in the clouds: Alex Harris wants to become an airline pilot. Inset, with instructor Dave Hertzberg. CP

Church helps fund life-saving mission

A HAVERHILL church has given £500 to help save lives in Ethiopia.

Members of West End Congregational Church in Withersfield Road decided to give the donation to Dr Andrew Cornish towards his Voluntary Service Overseas in Arba Minch.

Rev Leslie Shorten said: "Dr Cornish is well acquainted with many of the members of West End. Some of the members met together on Friday, October 5 and had invited Andrew and Lyndsey Cornish to be present and share with them what Andrew and their team hopes to do in Ethiopia.

"The money given will be used to provide much-needed medical equipment to be used by the team that Andrew will be working with.

"The church hopes to continue to support Andrew and Lyndsey both in their prayers and with their future fund-raising for the project."

Donation: Andrew and Lyndsey Cornish receive the cheque from West End church treasurer Jim Shirling-Rooke and, below, with members of the congregation. CP

Clare set for coast run in race tribute

KEEN runner Clare Bos will be sprinting along the seafront in Portsmouth later this month in memory of a friend's son who died from meningitis.

Clare, 32, will take part in the 10-mile Great South Run challenge on October 28 to help raise funds for national charity the Meningitis Research Foundation (MRF).

She will be joined by her friend, Rachel Clarke, from Great Sampford, whose son Sam, aged 4, died in 2006.

Clare, of Helions Bumpstead Road, Haverhill, is a mother of two and regularly runs with Rachel at Great Sampford, where she also used to live. Although she did not know Rachel, who has four other children, when Sam died, Clare saw how devastating his death was for the family.

Clare said: "I have chosen to run for Meningitis Research Foundation because my close friend, Rachel Clarke, lost her little boy, Sam, to meningococcal septicaemia when he was just 4 years old.

"In April, Rachel ran in the London Marathon for MRF and I trained with her. Since then we have decided to continue running and raising money.

"We thought that the Great South Run would be the perfect opportunity for us to do so and continue to help raise awareness of this terrible disease.

"It was one we could both do together, because it is during half-term."

Chris Head, chief executive at MRF, said: "We are extremely grateful to Clare for undertaking the Great South Run on our behalf and wish her well.

"We rely on voluntary donations to fund our vital work into the prevention, detection and treatment of meningitis and septicaemia, so every pound raised by her will make a huge difference and enable us to continue our work."

School gates will stay as councillor's fears allayed

A COUNCILLOR'S fears about the safety of security gates outside a school have been allayed and planning permission granted for them to stay.

Cllr Gordon Cox raised the issue of the steel gates outside Samuel Ward Academy in Haverhill, which was considered by St Edmundsbury Borough Council's development control committee.

Cllr Cox said he would like to see road markings installed to indicate where drivers should stop when exiting the enclosed site, to prevent the gates from smashing into their vehicles.

He was also concerned that there was not enough room for two vehicles to enter and exit the site at the same time.

He felt the gates should be moved to a more appropriate location.

The committee was told that the gates were installed at the request of OFSTED inspectors because the school site was considered too open and they felt greater protection was needed.

As the gates, and a CCTV camera, were installed for health and safety reasons, no planning permission was sought.

A Highway Authority spokesman said: "There is ample space on site for vehicles to turn in order to exit on to the highway in a forward gear and, therefore, this application does not present any issues."

The report to councillors said as the gates opened towards vehicles leaving the site, it would be advisable to provide a road marking showing them where to stop, so that the gates did not open on to their vehicles.

The committee approved the application to retain the gates on condition that such a 'stop line' was provided within three months.

Burglars crash through front door

POLICE are hunting for brazen burglars who burst through the front door of a home in Haverhill.

Police have issued an appeal for witnesses after the incident happened between 11am on Monday and 10.30am the following day.

The offenders forced open the door of the property on Crowland Road.

Officers said it is not known at this stage if anything has been stolen. A window was also broken on a shed.

Contact Suffolk Police on 101 quoting reference HH/12/2206.

Anger at parking purge

Police action: an officer chats to motorists during the parking crackdown this month. Inset, businessman Colin Richards, who says the move is affecting trade.

TRADERS claim Haverhill is losing its reputation as a disabled-friendly town after a crackdown by police on motorists which they say is driving away shoppers.

Businessmen in the town say the continuing clampdown on illegal parking and drivers using the High Street are forcing disabled people to shop elsewhere.

They described the town as "very quiet" after a series of days of action where officers dished out traffic tickets and stopped Blue Badge holders.

Colin Richards, who owns TVL All Star Video in Camps Road, said: "For days after the crackdown the town has been so quiet. Illegal parking was never a real problem. We are a market town with hustle and bustle and traffic is part of that."

"What we need is a traffic warden back. Haverhill is a unique town and attracts a lot of people from outside. We want that to continue but these actions are not helping."

The first day of action was on October 1 and police were again enforcing the law on October 3, 9 and 10 when dozens of tickets were issued.

Blue badge holders can park on

BY RAYMOND BROWN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

double yellow lines for up to three hours when displaying both parts of the badge, but nobody is permitted to park on the pavement.

Mark Chapman, of Chapman and Son electrical store in the High Street, said: "The police stopped 93 Blue Badge holders but that is stopping 93 customers from shopping in the town. Haverhill used to be a disabled-friendly town and without them coming here to do some shopping it's going to be very quiet."

"People like to stop and shop and if this continues they will just decide to go to the big retail parks. A lot of those people that were given tickets came from Essex and Cambridgeshire."

"I know people who come here from London because of the Pie and Mash shop. Times are difficult enough as it is without this."

Illegal parking and driving in High Street was moved up the police agenda by complaining residents.

High Street parking has been a police priority before and hundreds of warnings and parking tickets being issued to little effect, say traders.

Views wanted on town future

FAMILIES in Haverhill can change the town for the better at a public meeting.

Taxpayers' can find out how their money is spent and have a greater say in where their cash goes as part of a national pilot scheme.

Residents can also voice concerns and suggest improvements to their neighbourhoods.

Representatives from a range of public services will be there to listen and take away actions from the meeting.

The forum will be held on Monday from 6.30-8.30pm in Samuel Ward Academy, Chalkstone Way.

Community transport will be provided for people who cannot access public transport. To book transport call (01440) 712028 by tomorrow.

Prize joy for Holly after academy open day

It's for you: Holly Carlton receives her Kindle gift from Tayfun Yaygir.

PRIMARY school pupil Holly Carlton got a pleasant surprise when she was presented with a new Kindle.

The Year 6 pupil from Thurlow Primary School received the gadget at an assembly at Castle Manor Academy in Haverhill.

It was presented by Academy pupil Tayfun Yaygir and was a prize for a competition that she entered when she visited the academy's recent open evening.

Visitors to the event collected stickers as they moved around the academy campus and took part in various activities.

Holly's card was chosen at random following the event and she had managed to visit every area of the campus.

After winning the prize Holly said: "I really wanted a Kindle and have actually put one on my Christmas list."

"I'll have to think of something else now."

Tayfun Yaygir was a pupil at Thurlow Primary School last year, before joining Castle Manor Academy in September.

He said: "I was a little worried about the move to secondary school but I'm really enjoying myself at Castle Manor."

"Most of my friends went elsewhere, but I'm really pleased with my choice."

"I've made lots of friends, taken part in lots of activities during and after school and feel really supported by the teachers, even if some of the work is quite challenging."

Anyone who missed the open evening and would like to arrange a personal tour during the academy day, should contact Jason André by email at jandre@castlepartnership.org.uk or telephone (01440) 705 501.

The students, staff and governors of Castle Manor Academy would like to invite you to an exhibition by the Anne Frank Trust. The exhibition is presented by student ambassadors and opens up the history of those willing to take a stand for justice.

Pre-school youngsters hand over harvest gifts

STRUGGLING families in Haverhill have been given a boost by pre-school tots.

The town's Foodbank received bucket loads of food after children at the Happy Faces Pre-School Education did a harvest handover.

Cllr Maureen Byrne, joined the staff and children to hand over the produce collected for their seasonal celebrations.

On Tuesday morning staff were also joined by deputy mayor for Haverhill Cllr Roger André, to hand over the gifts to Suzanne Bumford and Mary Thake, volunteers who sort and pack the food parcels for Haverhill Foodbank.

Cllr Byrne said: "With our youngest residents being taught to appreciate the sources of their meals and to understand the value of supporting others in our community, it is clear that Happy Faces is promoting community values – an investment in the future of Haverhill."

"This outstanding centre is a valuable resource to local residents. The excitement and enthusiasm from the young people is an inspiration."

Food for families: councillors Maureen Byrne and Roger André join staff and children.

Transplant women form a solid bond

TWO women who became friends after both had kidney transplants want to share their experiences to help others.

Michelle Nobbs, 45, received a kidney from her sister-in-law, Lesley Albon, last April and has gone on to complete many runs and a 40-mile bike ride.

Mandy Smith, who suffers from the same polycystic kidney disease, was inspired by reading Michelle's story in the Haverhill Weekly News, and three months ago also received a kidney. They both live in Haverhill, but had never met until Mandy discovered one of her co-workers at Tesco was Michelle's daughter, Whitney.

Since then they have become firm friends, with Michelle helping Mandy to cope with her recovery.

Mandy, a 44-year-old mother of two, said: "I was diagnosed with the condition 16 years ago, but last year I was sent to a new clinic after my kidney function hit just 15 per cent of what it should be."

"I was put on the waiting list for a transplant but I was surprised to get a donor so quickly. I had read Michelle's story and she was my inspiration once I knew I had kidney failure."

"I was struggling to get through the day and had zero energy. Now I am back at work and I have so much more energy."

Michelle said: "I was able to help Mandy by talking her through things, because I had already been there. I used to see her in Tesco and think how ill she looked, and realised I must have looked that way."

"She looks amazing now and it has just transformed my life completely."

I go to the gym five times a week and when people say it is a new lease of life, it really is.

"My mother and my grandmother had the same thing and my brother is waiting to hear if he will get a transplant at the moment. I have three children, so the chances are that one of them will have it too."

"We hope that people will see what a huge difference it has made to us and it will encourage them to register to become an organ donor."

West Wickham

■ The Gardening Club recently enjoyed a beautiful late summer's day at Bressingham Gardens in Diss. The owner, Adrian Bloom, took members around, explaining the changes made since his father set out the garden 30 years ago. Now they are filled with the colour of crocosmias, heleniums, eupatoriums, asters and autumn grasses – quite spectacular.

The AGM was held during the September meeting. The past year has been reasonably good.

The officers elected were Arthur Mawby, chairman, Andrew Morris, treasurer, Ann Broscob, minutes secretary, and Rosemary Yallop, speakers' secretary.

Meetings are held in the village hall at 7.30pm on the third Monday of the month when interested people in the area will receive a warm welcome. For more information, ring Rosemary Yallop on (01799) 584262. The next meeting will be on Monday with a talk by Nigel Start, entitled Self Sufficiency in the Garden.

Weston Colville

■ JR Withers Day: 70 people, including 15 members of the Withers family, attended the celebrations on the first Sunday in September in St Mary's Church to mark the bicentenary of the birth of the Weston Colville poet James Reynolds Withers. Mike Petty spoke about the poet's life and author Dr Ronald Blythe, who is 90 next month, spoke on the poet John Clare. After an excellent tea, 74 people attended a traditional 1662 Evensong with Withers's poems feelingly read by the twins. The profit, £565, will go to the Fabric Fund.

■ Historic Churches Bike Ride: Thank you to everyone who sponsored the Seven Churches Bicycle Ride for Historic Churches and Weston Colville heating. If you agreed to sponsor this, please let Julie Norris have your contribution.

West Wrattling

■ Celebrating Age will be part of the service taking place on Sunday at 10.45am at St Andrew's Church, in anticipation of an Age UK Fun Afternoon taking place on Tuesday in the village hall, starting at 1pm. There will be singing by the Meadow Primary School choir, a quiz and afternoon tea. All are welcome but please either email Melanie.Murdoch@ageukcambridgeshire.org.uk or phone (01354) 691894 to say you are going.

■ Book Club: At the September meeting members reviewed The Unlikely Pilgrimage of Harold Fry. Some felt it was slightly superficial, but overall it got the thumbs-up. Reviews rated it from 9/10 to 6/10.

The next meeting is on Tuesday, at The Chestnut Tree at 8pm to review The Hunger Games and also to talk about a favourite poem. Next month, Oscar Wilde's The Picture of Dorian Gray will be reviewed.

■ Lunch Club will be today at The Chestnut Tree.

Cyclists brave rain in quest for funds

A DEVOTED dad and his friend battled through a week of wind and rain to cycle more than 500 miles to help his son, who has cerebral palsy.

Rorie Tiplady and Dave Canter topped off their mammoth ride by cycling almost 50 miles back to Haverhill, after they arrived in Harwich early on October 8.

They hope to raise at least £1,000 from the ride towards the cost of a sports wheelchair for Rorie's son Harry, 11, so that he can take part in sports such as wheelchair basketball at Samuel Ward Academy.

The school is also holding a non-uniform day to raise cash towards the £2,500 cost of the wheelchair.

The pair left the Aerocycles shop in Maple Park, Haverhill, where Rorie works to set out on their seven-day ride. They covered 507 miles across Holland and visited some historical sites along the way including Arnhem bridge and the Oosterbeek War Cemetery.

Rorie, of Bartlow Place, Haverhill said: "I am waiting for a hip replacement operation so I have been in agony and dosed up on pain killers since we got back.

"We did not do the 600 miles we intended, but we did enjoy it, even though it was really hard.

"We got back really early and we did not want to ask anyone to pick us up, so we decided to carry on and ride back. I think that was the hardest part because of the hills, whereas Holland is all flat.

"The weather was absolutely awful, we said because we were British we had brought the rain with us. I have cycled 100 miles before but in totally different circumstances. My road bike weighs about 15lb, but with all the kit, my bike weighed about 50lb, you could only just pick it up off the ground.

"We were totally self sufficient, but every night we ended up drying everything out.

"Harry is one of the pioneering children at Samuel Ward, where they are going to build a special school. He is coping well in mainstream school, although the days are long and he does get tired.

"He needs a sports wheelchair so that he can join in with sports up there. He is very enthusiastic and the school want to get him involved.

"He is due to have a load of operations next year and will probably have to be in casts for about a year."

Anyone who wants to support the fundraising efforts can get sponsor forms from Aerocycles or Samuel Ward.

Laptop theft leads to new warning

THIEVES got in through an open window to steal a laptop and other items.

Police in Haverhill are appealing for information about the theft from an insecure property on Cambridge Way, between 6pm and 6.20pm on Monday, October 8.

A HP mini notebook was stolen from an open window of the address, as well as a BlackBerry mobile phone and laptop bag.

Police are reminding residents to keep windows and doors locked when left unattended and never to leave valuable property on display.

Calls with information can be made to DC Laura Hicks on 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Agency in bid to help jobless

A NEW recruitment agency hopes to give Haverhill a jobs boost.

PC Recruitment has opened a new office in Station Road and has 34 years of supplying staff to small, medium and major blue chip organisations in the Suffolk, Cambridgeshire and Essex areas.

The company has supplied workers to the four high street supermarket chains, local authorities, the NHS, IT businesses and the pharmaceutical industry. Bosses at the company are inviting job hunters and businesses to the new office.

Fun for some: but many people find firework displays distressing.

Fireworks help call sent out

VOLUNTEERS are needed to help run a big operation over Hallowe'en and Bonfire Night.

Operation Gunpowder will target those who can find this a worrying and scary time.

The British Red Cross and other agencies will be speaking to households across Haverhill to identify any needs or concerns in the community, and provide support and reassurance to those who need it.

They will be visiting neighbourhoods throughout the Haverhill area from October 22 to November 3 and providing support.

This will include practical advice for households on security and safety issues, addressing anti-social behaviour, highlighting any health and social care service needs and referring specialist needs to any other appropriate organisations.

This is the second year the British Red Cross has been involved with Operation Gunpowder.

The feedback from last year's operation was very positive, especially regarding the proactive nature of the visits to vulnerable people.

The practical help provided following the visits ranged from Red Cross support home visits and phone calls, security and fire prevention advice and support, as well as help with mobility and shopping issues.

To speak to someone about Operation Gunpowder, call Mark Bradley on (01473) 344920.

To help the Red Cross in Suffolk with fundraising or volunteering, contact Jane Dow on (01284) 727247 or janedow@redcross.org.uk.

Car damaged by vandals

VANDALS targeted a car in Haverhill, leaving deep scratches on the vehicle.

Police are appealing for information after the vehicle was damaged on Clarendon Road.

The incident occurred between 4pm on Saturday and 9am the following morning. There were deep scratches across side panels and a scribble pattern on the bonnet.

Calls with information can be made to Pc Darren Lamboll on 101, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Hospice boss's joy at £400k lottery handout

BY LIZZY BUCHAN

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A HOSPICE charity has received a grant of more than £400,000 from the National Lottery.

St Nicholas Hospice Care, in Bury St Edmunds, provides care for people with life-threatening illnesses throughout West Suffolk and they need to raise £11,000 every day to keep their doors open.

The £431,212 grant will help fund projects such as community healthcare assistants, who provide nursing care in people's own homes, for two years from April 2013.

The hospice plans to launch a new scheme called First Contact, where anyone who has just been diagnosed with a disease can go to find out about what services are available to them.

It will also continue with its Hospice Neighbours project where volunteers are trained to help people living at home as well as providing them with much-needed companionship.

More than 100 people have signed up and the scheme has been such a success that more volunteers are needed.

Barbara Gale, St Nicholas Hospice Care chief executive, said they were delighted to receive the grant.

She said: "This grant shows how the Big Lottery recognises the importance of caring for people where they want to be – often in their own homes.

"We have found that more and more patients want to receive care in their own homes, surrounded by the people, pets and belongings that are important to them."

However, she said the charity could not rest as the hospice's running costs are £5 million a year.

"We are facing a challenging year in an uncertain financial climate so we are still very much in need of support from the entire community."

Expert tips for healthier lifestyles

PEOPLE seeking help to lose weight, stop smoking or become more active can join a personal health clinic.

The new clinic, run by Live Well Suffolk, will take place every Wednesday between 10am and 1pm at the David Holland Pharmacy on Norton Road, Haverhill.

Floyd Croll, one of Live Well Suffolk's trained community health coaches will offer free help for those looking to manage their weight or wanting to live a healthier lifestyle.

He said: "Each pre-booked 30-minute session will look at what you want to achieve and give practical advice and support to help you on your journey.

"We are also using this time as an opportunity to hold private stop smoking clinics to help those who are struggling to give up smoking."

To register for a free appointment with one of Live Well Suffolk's community health coaches, call (01473) 229292. Some eligibility criteria will apply. For information on Live Well Suffolk, see www.livewell.suffolk.org.uk.

'I wouldn't have it any other way for our girls'

Abby Martin's youngest daughter is severely deaf, and her eldest is also hearing-impaired – but after being told she was unlikely to have children at all, their devoted mum wouldn't change a thing about her family. Interview by EMMA HIGGINBOTHAM.

KEZIA Martin has one of the world's cheekiest grins. A bouncy 7-year-old who loves riding her scooter, playing chase with her dog and even cheerleading, you'd think she didn't have a care in the world.

But Kezia is severely deaf, and relies on hearing aids and lip-reading to communicate. And for mum Abby, 38, it's like history repeating itself: her older daughter, 13-year-old Letecia, is also hearing-impaired.

Yet for Abby and husband John, who live in Red Lodge, coping with their daughters' deafness isn't a problem – they're just grateful to have them at all. "We've been blessed with two beautiful children, and we've always taught Letecia and Kezia that they're special," says Abby. "Their deafness is what makes them."

Abby met John ("roller-skating at Rollerbury!") when she was 17 and he was 23. They married five years later, and becoming parents was very much on the agenda.

"When the careers advisor at school said 'what would you like to be?' I said 'a wife and a mum,'" smiles Abby. "We immediately thought we'd like to have a family, but we tried for over a year, and nothing happened."

Tests revealed that Abby had polycystic ovaries, and the prognosis wasn't good: "They actually said it was a very severe case, and we probably wouldn't fall pregnant," says Abby. "Obviously that was really hard."

The couple, who are Christians, decided not to try IVF for personal religious reasons. But four years later, a course of tablets to induce ovulation did the trick. "I just knew I was pregnant, I just felt it," says Abby. "We waited until the morning to do the test, because it's a stronger reading, and at 5 o'clock in the morning we drove to Bury to knock on my parents' door and tell them!"

Letecia was born in April 1999, and her hearing appeared fine: in fact Abby didn't suspect anything was wrong until she turned 4.

"She started saying 'pardon?' a lot, and I'd noticed that she couldn't sound things out: she knew all her letters, and could write all her friends' names, but when I'd say 'how do you think 'Dad' is spelt? D-A-D?', she couldn't hear it."

Abby's concerns deepened when Letecia started school. "The teacher said 'would you help Letecia write her name, please?' And I laughed! I said 'she can't! And the teacher said 'no she can't: when I've asked her to, she hasn't. I knew something was up, and I just thought, maybe it's her hearing...'"

The family doctor referred Letecia to specialists in Ely, who confirmed that she had a mild hearing problem. But her hearing deteriorated rapidly, "and in within a matter of months, she was profoundly deaf in her right ear."

An MRI scan ruled out tumours or blockages, but Letecia's hearing loss was permanent. "My reaction was 'OK, that's what that is,'" shrugs Abby. "It was a shock, but we still saw her as a wonderful gift from God."

But Abby admits it was tough to watch Letecia in social situations: "I didn't realise how much of an effect deafness has: she would miss everything on the right-hand side."

"With things like birthday parties, she'd be lost, really, because she wouldn't hear what was going on. So she did feel left out. And she's been reluctant to join in certain things: when she was smaller she loved dancing, but it got to the point where she didn't feel she was getting it right, and decided to stop."

Joining in with conversations has also been an issue: "She does struggle with having the confidence to go into a group of people and talk to them. Bless her, she is getting better as she's getting older, but I think she is very conscious of the fact that she doesn't want to look silly."

But Letecia says she's taking her deafness in her stride. "Because I've had it for so long, I've got used to it, and it doesn't really affect me any more," she says. "The only problem is that sometimes I miss things in class."

Have other kids ever been mean? "No. Well, not that I know of! I don't try to cover up my hearing aids – I'm not really bothered about it. You can hardly see them anyway because they're just wire."

In fact, she says, it can have a plus side: "Sometimes I just need a break from hearing everything, so there is an advantage: I can take out my hearing aids and just shut down, but unfortunately I've still got one ear going!"

Kezia certainly has no problems with confidence. "They're chalk and cheese," laughs Abby. "While Leticia would hang at the back of a room full of people, Kezia would probably go in and go 'excuse me, I want to talk to you!'"

She's certainly full of beans. Keen to show off her handstands and cartwheels, Kezia is also a real chatterbox: "I worked hard at school today and I got three stickers – but then I lost them," she says.

"Where did you put them?" asks Abby. "I put them here, here and here," she replies, pointing at her cheeks and chin, then laughs. "They fell off."

When Kezia was born, her hearing was tested the same day: "I knew in my heart of hearts she was going to be deaf," recalls Abby. "They said 'she's failed her hearing test, but it may just be that she's congested'. But I wasn't at all shocked." A test a few weeks later confirmed her suspicions.

Kezia is severely deaf: she's classed as moderate to severe in one ear, and severe to profound in the other: "and without her hearing aids she really can't hear at all."

"It didn't bother me at that point: I was fine until she got to about nine months, and then I just felt like I didn't know what to do. I really struggled," admits Abby.

"Someone is always worse off, and I never thought 'why me?' or 'why them?' at all. Ever. But I didn't feel I knew enough about parenting a deaf child. Just simple things like she wouldn't keep a hat on, let alone keep her hearing aids in. . .

"So for those first few years, my faith was strong but my emotions were weak, and I actually found it very difficult."

Kezia's strong character was an issue too: while Leticia had always been a gentle child, her little sister was something of a whirlwind. "She went through a stage of just hitting out at everybody, especially children, because they would come right up to her and she couldn't cope with anyone being in her personal space," recalls Abby. "She was quite an angry little girl."

"At mother and toddler groups I couldn't relax, because I was constantly waiting to protect the next child. And as much as people did understand, and were very sweet, you don't actually feel any better about it."

By the age of 3, Kezia still wasn't talking, but then they had a breakthrough – in the form of a small black dog called Bea-Bea (pronounced 'BB'). "I was angry that I was deaf, so we had to get a dog to stop me being angry," says Kezia. "She was frustrated," begins Abby. "So we had to have a dog so I'd stop frustrating," chips in Kezia.

"Bea-Bea made a huge difference," continues Abby. "Somebody said to me 'you don't understand what she's saying and she doesn't understand what you're saying – that's why she's frustrated.' A dog will be a friend that she can talk to, and it was a huge success."

Life improved further when Kezia started pre-school. Not only did she have a support worker, but the family decided to take signing lessons: "Lots of people said to me 'don't sign with her, she won't speak', but it wasn't like that. It was almost like we were confirming what she was saying, or trying to say, so actually it encouraged her speech. And it transformed her tremendously, because then she could communicate.

"She just blossomed into this very confident little girl. Now, for example, when she hasn't heard she'll go 'I didn't hear!' whereas Leticia probably wouldn't. It's given her a personality that will cope with it a bit more, I think."

After two years at Mayfield Primary School in Cambridge, which has a hearing support centre, Kezia is now at mainstream school. She's thriving but, admits Abby, it hasn't all been plain sailing: "I can remember her finishing Reception and saying 'Mummy? Please tell me I don't have to be deaf in Year One.' That hit me hard, actually."

To this day, the Martins don't know what caused their daughters' hearing loss. They had an appointment with a geneticist "but they wanted to do blood tests, and my husband and I talked about it and said 'thank you very much, but we don't need to know'. If the girls want to know, then we'll go down that route. But I don't like the idea of going down that route if we don't need to know why. We say 'it's just because they are.'"

Does Abby worry about their future? "I have to be honest and say no. I do think Leticia finds it hard sometimes, but does it sound wrong to say we don't really think about it?"

"This is our life, and this is how God wants them. You either put a positive slant on it or a negative, and I just feel that if you have a positive attitude, you're going to get positive results."

"We're not always positive," she adds, with a laugh. "Sometimes John comes home and I say 'can you please just give me a few minutes, just because I hear 'pardon Mum?' one more time. . ."

"But I wouldn't have them any other way: it makes them who they are. People's personalities are moulded by what's going on, and what's going on for them is deafness. I sometimes think they should moan more, but they just don't. They cope with it beautifully."

Fire service merger is a step closer

A POTENTIAL merger between the Suffolk and Cambridgeshire fire services has moved a step closer.

Work on a business case which could see a link between the two is to continue after the move was approved by Cambridgeshire and Peterborough Fire Authority.

A decision on whether to collaborate more fully is expected in the new year.

Options ranging from no action to a full merger will be considered and go out to public consultation.

Chief Fire Officer Graham Stagg said: "We cannot ignore what is happening in the wider world. The financial situation for public sector organisations does not look like it is improving and we need to be prepared for the next Comprehensive Spending Review in 2015 in which it is likely that further cuts to fire and rescue service budgets will be made.

"In order to prepare for this we need to fully examine all the options that we have for saving further money from this date without impacting on our frontline resources."

Cllr Fred Brown, chairman of the fire authority, said they had already established the benefits of working with Suffolk through the merged fire control.

He said: "A full business case is sensible for both parties to find out exactly where we stand financially.

"We need to do this to ensure that it is the best decision for the people of Cambridgeshire. We will not make a final decision until all the facts are clear."

Matthew Warren, director of resources, told the authority more work on the link had to be done.

Suffolk County Council will discuss the plan next week and the full business case will come back before the fire authority and the cabinet next year.

Mr Stagg warned deadlines were tight and if they missed one for 2014 there would not be another opportunity until 2016-17.

Cllr Sir Peter Brown said: "This is something we have got to get right. I think this authority will have to think very carefully where it is going."

Shop fundraiser breaks £300 barrier

A WEEK of sponsored fundraising at a charity shop raised just over £300.

Events at the Sue Ryder shop in Jubilee Walk, Haverhill, included a cake raffle, won by Elizabeth Bradford, and a name the dog contest, won by Katie Gregory who correctly guessed the name Chelsea.

A sponsored dog walk was also held in the East Town Park on Sunday, September 30, and the total raised was £307.

Shop manager Janet Green and assistant manager June Garnett organised the events. June said: "We were very pleased with the result. We would like to thank all our volunteers and customers for their help and support."

More donations of goods and volunteers are always welcome, and for more information visit the Jubilee Walk shop.

Candlelight tribute date

A SPECIAL candlelight service on All Souls Day will be held at a village church. Current residents, and those who have now moved away from the Essex parishes of Ridgewell, Sturmer, Ashen and Birdbrook, are invited to the service at St Lawrence Church on Friday, November 2 at 8pm. The service will remember those whose deaths have been registered in the parishes over the past two years, as well as any others whose names are requested. Many like to light a candle in memory of a loved one.

As in previous years, donations are invited towards St Nicholas Hospice in Bury St Edmunds.

Thief takes computer

The HP Mini Notebook was taken from a house in Cambridge Way, Haverhill, between 6pm and 6.20pm on October 8. A BlackBerry mobile phone and a laptop bag were also taken.

Anyone with information is asked to call Det Con Laura Hicks on 101 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

Pop legend set to play

New role for Valerie

A NEW Salvation Army captain has taken over the reins in a Suffolk town after spending the past two years in Northern Ireland.

Captain Valerie Morgan is the new officer at Haverhill Salvation Army, taking over from Majors Sidney and Georgina Pinches, who retired last month.

Captain Morgan is originally from Scarborough, but her most recent posting was in Newry, Northern Ireland.

She said: "I am a lifelong member of the church – I was born and brought up in it, with both my parents and grandparents involved.

"I had never been to Haverhill before, but it is going very well. A lot of people came along to my welcome service, which was really great.

"Northern Ireland has its history of political troubles, but the people there are very friendly and warm and trying to work through it all.

"I will carry on with what is already in place here, then as time goes on look at developing things."

Captain Morgan is a keen birdwatcher who loves to spend time in the countryside and also enjoys classical music.

MPs have called on tourism chiefs to scrap a new advertising campaign, claiming it makes their county look ridiculous.

Visit Suffolk – the agency set up to promote the East Anglian county – has unveiled a new branding campaign describing the area as "The Curious County".

But four MPs have now called for the "idiotic and dangerous" message to be binned – saying it could turn visitors away.

Tory MP for Coastal Suffolk, Dr Theresa Coffey, said curious "is often used as a euphemism for something that is not quite right".

The new advertising slogan was first unveiled last month and is to be the centrepiece of a campaign starting next year. At the time Visit Suffolk brand manager Amanda Bond claimed: "The Curious County is probably the most exciting, eccentric and innovative way we've ever decided to promote tourism in Suffolk."

This week she said the campaign was not ready to go live and she was unable to comment further on it.

Among MPs worried at the impact the slogan could have on the county's crucial £1.75bn tourism sector are junior health minister, Central Suffolk MP Dan Poulter, Bury St Edmunds MP David Ruffley, Dr Coffey and Waveney MP Peter Aldous.

Mr Ruffley said: "There is nothing curious about what we have to offer. This slogan is idiotic and meaningless, if not potentially dangerous for the tourism industry."

Dr Poulter said: "It has got to be stopped. It is the sort of slogan that could damage the county for years to come."

Mr Aldous added: "I don't really understand the slogan, I'd say it was rather curious itself."

Ipswich MP Ben Gummer defended the work of Visit Suffolk, saying the branding idea is just one campaign the agency is looking at, and that it could attract people who might not otherwise look at Suffolk.

Silence in court

UNDER OATH: Tom Conti finds himself in the witness box in Rough Justice.

CAMBRIDGE Arts Theatre favourite Tom Conti makes a welcome return to the city in Terence Frisby's acclaimed court drama Rough Justice this week.

TV journalist James Highwood has made his career out of challenging the British Justice system in his documentary programmes. Now suddenly it is Highwood himself who is challenged when he is brought to court on a charge of murder. Deciding to defend himself, he will push the court to its limits.

Conti's career spans more than five decades. His most notable performances are Whose Life is it Anyway?, for which he won an Olivier and Tony Award, Reuben Reuben, a role that saw him receive an Oscar nomination, the iconic Shirley Valentine, and as Ross's father-in-law in Friends.

More recently, he was seen helping Batman out of a hole – literally – in The Dark Knight Rises. He has been voted one of the Most Popular Actors in the West End in the last 25 years, alongside Dame Judi Dench.

The cast also includes Royce Mills, Mary Lincoln, David Michaels, Shaun

Morton, Simon Murray, Elizabeth Payne and Carol Starks.

Terence Frisby has worked extensively for nearly 50 years as actor, director and producer. His most famous play, There's A Girl In My Soup, was London's longest-running comedy (1966-1972) and a worldwide smash-hit with long runs on Broadway, in Paris, Berlin, Stockholm, Sydney, Rome, Vienna and Prague.

It is still constantly produced across the globe. His other stage plays include The Subtopians, The Bandwagon, It's All Right If I Do It Seaside Postcard and Funny About Love.

Enemy at the gate

THE most successful thing to come out of Coventry since the motor car (or The Specials, at least), indie trio The Enemy found themselves elevated – literally – to stadium rock status when they performed on the roof at Wembley during this year's FA Cup final.

They were also supposed to play a hometown show at Coventry Cathedral, but had to switch venues because the city council were worried they might be so loud it would fall down.

The band are touring on the back of third album Streets in the Sky, which reached the top 5 back in May.

Know thine Enemy...

■ The Enemy, Cambridge Corn Exchange, today, 7.30pm. Tickets £17.50. Contact: (01223) 357 857 / www.cornex.co.uk

Memories set the skeletons rattling

WHEN Hugh Hughes returned to his childhood home in Llangefni to help his mum pack and move house, a tapestry of memories from his past, his family and the town he once called home began to unfold.

His memories have grown and grown – bursting from Hugh's head and into a website for us to explore and enjoy www.invisibletownstories.co.uk. Now audiences at The Junction in Cambridge have the chance to join Hugh, his brother and his sister, as family skeletons leave their closets in this unpredictable and hilarious evening of family stories. Each night, the Hughes family tell us about the good times, the not so good times and everything in between.

Playful, theatrical, physical and funny – since 2005, Hoipolloi has presented three award-winning shows by the inimitable Welsh artist Hugh Hughes. Hoipolloi has been applauded the world over for its vivid and thrillingly unique performance style, celebrating the imagination and taking audiences into fantastical worlds where the line between reality and fantasy blurs.

CUP FINALISTS: The Enemy performed on the roof at Wembley during the FA Cup showdown.

THE Fire, who will be here on Saturday, October 27, are fast becoming regarded as the most authentic sounding Jimi Hendrix band around. Recreating the energy and sound of the guitar legend, the band performs all the classic tracks from Hendrix's musical legacy. Capturing that unique Hendrix 'feel', The Fire's live performance could be the closest thing you'll hear to Jimi himself. It's hotting up from 8pm.

LDN Wrestling is back and there will be breath-taking action from the top rope and beyond on Monday, October 29 at 7.30pm. See tag team and single bouts featuring top names from the world of wrestling plus the climax to the show, the All-in Rumble. The wrestlers can only be eliminated by being thrown over the top rope – the last man standing is the winner.

What do you do when you hear a strange munching noise inside a piano? Call the Piano Doctor, of course. Garlic Theatre will be here on Tuesday, October 30, at 3pm with There's A Monster In My Piano ready to delight children and adults with this offbeat, jazzy tale. We hope the doctor might be able to help with his bag full of ears and his collection of weird and wonderful tools, but when he looks inside the musical notes are packing their bags and running away. What are they scared of and who is hammering at the keys? Starring puppets, clowning, animation and a very highly-strung monster indeed. The show is suitable for ages 4+ and lasts approximately 45 minutes.

On the cinema front this half-term, the Dr Seuss parable about environmental awareness is brought to vivid life in The Lorax 2D (U) on Monday, October 29, at 10.30am. On a quest to win the heart of the girl of his dreams, idealistic young Ted stumbles into a magical world full of life, colour and trees. And in Brave 2D (PG) on Wednesday, October 31 at 10.30am a skilled archer and a feisty free spirit Merida is determined to break free from the patriarchal shackles of her father's kingdom.

The big film

Madagascar 3: Europe's Most Wanted 3D & 2D Certificate PG, 1h33m

AFTER a lacklustre second instalment which saw Alex the lion, Marty the zebra, Melman the hypochondriac giraffe and Gloria the hippopotamus crash-land in Africa, Madagascar 3 rediscovered some of its animal magic.

A circus of performing critters provides the dramatic hook for the usual wisecracks, and a boo-hiss pantomime villainess generates much-needed dramatic tension.

Alex (voiced by Ben Stiller), Marty (Chris Rock), Melman (David Schwimmer) and Gloria (Jada Pinkett Smith) hanker for a return to New York's Central Park Zoo.

They leave Africa and head first to Monte Carlo to reunite with the penguins. There the gang has a close encounter with tenacious animal control officer Captain Chantel DuBois (Frances McDormand) and her scooter-riding cronies.

Seeking refuge on a circus train, they persuade Vitaly the tiger (Bryan Cranston), Gia the jaguar (Jessica Chastain) and Stefano the sea lion (Martin Short) that they, too, are performing animals. Alex, Marty, Melman and Gloria nervously train alongside the professionals, knowing they must impress a big promoter in Rome in order to secure a booking in the Big Apple.

Madagascar 3: Europe's

Most Wanted is undemanding escapist froth. The setting lends itself perfectly to 3D and directors Eric Darnell, Tom McGrath and Conrad Vernon have a ball contriving outrageous set pieces.

The camera swoops as Merman and Gloria teeter on the high wire, Alex tumbles acrobatically on the trapeze and Marty soars out of the barrel of a giant cannon.

Animals ricochet around the screen at dizzying speed and pyrotechnics explode to the infectious beat of Katy Perry's self-empowerment anthem, Firework.

Kids will love the slapstick and high-octane action but parents may find the tomfoolery as tame as the four-legged heroes. Eye candy is plentiful but there's an inescapable feeling that the flimsy narrative has been tailored to the 3D and the higher ticket prices commanded by the eye-popping format.

You could cheerfully distill the plot into 10 minutes – the remainder of this upbeat adventure is glossy, feel-good packaging adorned with rump-shaking musical interludes.

Keeping the doctor at bay

WHILE many commercial apple producers have had poor crops this year because the incessant early rain deterred bees from pollinating the blossom, ordinary gardeners may have had more success.

An apple flower can't be fertilised by pollen from the same tree, but needs a pollination partner from a different variety of apple tree which flowers at the same time.

While many commercial growers only grow one variety and will have a different pollination partner scattered around the orchard, they usually assess the minimum number of pollination partner trees needed so they don't waste space they want to give over to their main variety.

"This year we had a freakily bad year for pollination because throughout the time for pollination – April and May – it was cold and rainy and the bees just weren't about, which massively reduced the chances of trees being pollinated," says Rebecca Bevan, team leader for fruit and vegetables at RHS Garden Wisley.

When only one type of apple is grown, bees have to travel from the majority crop to pollinating partner trees and back again to cross-pollinate each flower.

However, suburban gardeners often by Hannah Stephenson

have a few different types within easy reach, which means the bees don't have to travel so far to cross-pollinate the flowers.

It's been a bumper year for apples at RHS Garden Wisley – which is currently hosting the RHS Taste of Autumn Festival – where nearly 700 types of apple are grown and there are many hives.

"Even though the weather was awful, we had more bees around which were covered in a lot more compatible pollen," says Bevan.

She advises gardeners to grow more than one variety which flowers at the same time.

"We advise home gardeners to choose at least one pollination partner for each tree, but often in suburban areas that's going to happen anyway because different people have different apple trees and the bees will travel from one garden to another to exchange the pollen."

Many suburban gardeners also grow wild flowers which encourage bees and have grown some apple varieties which will withstand a lot of rain.

Those who want their tree blossom to escape the frost should go for mid or late season varieties, such as Ashmead's Kernel, a russet apple with a really intense fruit-drop flavour which stores well, ready for picking from mid-October, and Ellison's Orange, a late season type which is a reliable cropper providing a rich flavour, she advises.

Wet weather also encourages fungal diseases and some trees are more resistant to that. Ellison's Orange, for instance, has shown some resistance to scab, while Laxton's Fortune is also disease-resistant. Falstaff is also thought to have some resistance to frost in its blossom.

Unlike most varieties, Bramley cooking apples need two pollination partners, while there are several self-fertile varieties, including a type of Cox's Orange Pippin, although the RHS recommends that trees are cross-pollinated to achieve a better crop.

For better crops, Bevan advises people to create good places for bumble bees and solitary bees to overwinter in the garden. Leave some undisturbed ground on your plot or make insect houses by tying up bamboo canes which have holes in them in which the bees can shelter.

■ The RHS Taste of Autumn Festival, which features apple-tasting sessions, runs until Sunday at RHS Garden Wisley, Woking, Surrey. For details, visit www.rhs.org.uk

Your Homesnow Guide to Moving Home

Moving home can be a complicated business and in the hectic run up to the big day it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Homesnow team offers their readers this handy checklist to help avoid any major pitfalls. We suggest you tick them off as you go....

www.homesnow.co.uk

1 4-2 WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Packing – start packing and sorting through your belongings. Now is a good time to de-clutter and pack items rarely used. Make sure you have plenty of sturdy boxes, bubble wrap and sticky tape.
- ☐ Removal companies – get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Insurance – check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Utilities – make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move. Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Telecommunications – Notify your telephone and broadband provider and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone and broadband facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Post – Look into re-directing your post for a few months to make sure you receive all relevant correspondence.
- ☐ Children – Look into the possibility of your children, especially young children, staying with family or friends on the day of the move.
- ☐ Pets – Make arrangements for any pets to be booked into a cattery or kennels if required. Having your pets microchipped is a good idea and if already microchipped, have the address changed to your new one. Your vet can advise on this.

Change of address – tell companies and organisations that you are moving!

Notify:

- ☐ Employer
- ☐ Inland revenue
- ☐ Local council
- ☐ Banks or Building Societies
- ☐ Credit companies, store cards & other accounts
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and water boards
- ☐ Insurance companies
- ☐ Land / mobile phones
- ☐ Internet and cable / satellite TV providers
- ☐ Doctor, Dentist and Opticians
- ☐ DVLA
- ☐ Veterinary surgery
- ☐ TV Licensing

1 WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Delivery address – change delivery address of your Cambridge News, milk, groceries and fuel to your new address as appropriate.
- ☐ Laundry – do any last minute laundry that you can – have you arranged for a plumber to disconnect your washing machine correctly?

- ☐ Kitchen cupboards – go through your kitchen cupboards and throw out anything not in date. Also check that all jars and bottles are correctly sealed before packing.
- ☐ Fridges / Freezers – empty and clean out in preparation for moving. If you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.
- ☐ Valuables / documents – put these in safe place for moving day

4 2-1 DAYS TO GO:

- ☐ Packing – pack a bag for overnight essentials and toiletries and finish all remaining packing into boxes. Remember to label which room each box is destined for.
- ☐ Snack box – pack a box for the kitchen to include essentials like tea, coffee and sugar, as well as the kettle and mugs! Also include other snacks as necessary.
- ☐ Dismantle and disconnect – take down curtains, fixtures and fittings and disconnect white goods ready for transport.
- ☐ Outdoor items – make sure that these are stacked together and ready to be moved.
- ☐ Mobile – place your mobile on charge the night before moving and ensure that all relevant people have your number.

5 ON MOVING DAY:

AT YOUR OLD ADDRESS:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Finish packing toiletries box.
- ☐ Direct removal firm personnel or friends helping you move as to what needs to be done.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler / central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Make final checks and leave key as arranged with new owners.

AT YOUR NEW HOME:

- ☐ Open up & have a look around the new house.
- ☐ Locate fuse box, gas and electric meter and stop cock for reference.
- ☐ Take readings on gas, electric and water meters as appropriate.
- ☐ Organise the direction of boxes to appropriate rooms.
- ☐ Check the van after all is unloaded.
- ☐ Make the beds up for the evening.
- ☐ Sit down and relax – unpack the other boxes the next day.

Ready for a cold snap?

ROAD safety charity the IAM (Institute of Advanced Motorists) has launched its winter driving campaign in a bid to help motorists prepare their cars and drive them safely through the winter months.

The campaign includes a website, www.drivingadvice.org.uk, containing advice, traffic updates and weather forecasts. The IAM will also be publishing weekly news releases and driving tips in reaction to the winter weather.

This campaign comes in response to winter's more dangerous driving conditions which cause an increase in accident rates:

■ Slippery roads (due to weather) contributed to 13,420 road casualties in 2011, and related to 79 fatalities.

■ Rain, sleet, snow or fog was the cause of 1,786 reported road casualties in 2011.

■ Travelling too fast for conditions was a contributing factor in 13,425 accidents in 2011.

The amount of rainfall during December 2011 was 34 per cent above the average for that time of year.

During February 2012, freezing rain fell across northern England causing treacherous conditions on roads and pavements: 100 road accidents were reported from Cumbria, and A&E departments dealt with hundreds of falls on icy pavements.

IAM chief executive Simon Best said: "The first thing you need to ask when the weather is bad is whether you need to travel, and if so, if there are alternatives to the roads.

"When you are on the road, be prepared to slow down and take extra care, particularly on bends and roads which are open to the elements.

"Our winter driving campaign will provide comprehensive advice and guidance for those who do decide to travel, keeping them as safe as possible."

For starters, you could do worse than top up the anti-freeze and windscreen wash!

DVLA move to ditch check on insurance when taxing a vehicle is 'madness': AA

THE DVLA (Driver and Vehicle Licensing Authority) has announced plans to cut red tape by removing the insurance check when taxing a vehicle – a move which has been condemned as "madness" by the AA.

The suggestion would mean motorists no longer having to provide an insurance certificate when buying a tax disc under plans unveiled by Roads Minister Stephen Hammond.

The red tape cutting plans mean that around an extra 600,000 motorists a year will be able to tax their car online. It also means that millions of motorists will no longer have to search for their insurance certificate if they tax their car at the Post Office.

Roads Minister Stephen Hammond said: "We are committed to getting rid of unnecessary red tape. There is absolutely no benefit in making motorists prove they have insurance when they buy a tax disc now that we regularly check existing databases for insurance under Continuous Insurance Enforcement rules.

"These proposals will make the whole process quicker, easier and cheaper."

The proposal has been made possible by new checks of existing databases for insurance under Continuous Insurance Enforcement rules. The DVLA's records are compared regularly with the Motor Insurance Database (MID) to identify registered keepers of vehicles that appear to have no insurance.

The consultation closes on November 26.

However, the AA has branded the proposal as "madness".

"This will send out entirely the wrong message and will undo much the work carried out by the Motor Insurers' Bureau, the Government and the insurance industry to tighten up enforcement of the law," says Simon Douglas, director of broker AA Insurance.

"To knock out a simple and almost fool-proof check that insurance is in place, once every year or six months, is madness. It's telling the public that it's OK to delay or even avoid taking out cover.

"It's simply not good enough to rely on Continuous Insurance Enforcement (CIE) legislation which was introduced last year; and the police using automatic number plate recognition (anpr) technology to identify uninsured vehicles after the event. Surely it is better to ensure that vehicles are insured from the outset.

"If this becomes law, we will see a sharp rise in the number of people driving without cover, either deliberately or through oversight."

The Camaro is now ready for road testing

THE Chevrolet Camaro – the ultimate affordable muscle car – is now available to test drive at Cambridge Chevrolet.

Prices start at £35,025 for the famed road-eater, which acquired iconic status through the 'Bumblebee' role in the Transformers TV and film franchise.

Fired by a 6.2-litre V8, the 410bhp Camaro is available as a coupe or a convertible, with an automatic or manual gearbox. The 0-60mph time is around 5 seconds depending on the model.

The Camaro Coupe will be road-tested in this Friday's drive motoring supplement, free with the Cambridge News. The review highlights Chevrolet's fuel management system which shuts off cylinders when not in use, thereby offering significant savings on fuel consumption.

For further details call Cambridge Chevrolet on (01223) 873673.

S-TECH CAMBS GIRLS' LEAGUE,
UNDER-14 SOUTH

SIAN Tatum's four-goal haul steered Rovers to an impressive home win.

Rovers started brightly but could not break through until a corner on 10 minutes fell at Tatum's feet and she smashed it into the net.

Two minutes later, Bar Hill equalised with a long-range effort in their first attack. Rovers got on top and scored three more goals – two for Tatum and one for Becky Rawling – to make it 4-1 at half time.

Sharp-shooter Sian

Bar Hill barely got into Rovers half after the break as Bryony Watkins, Lia Phillips and Ella Blowes all had good games.

Demi Flowers caused problems with her probing runs at the Bar Hill defence, and Rovers found the net twice more through Rawling and Tatum, both set up by player of the match Bethany Knight.

Rovers are on the lookout for more players. Anyone interested, please call Steve Hull on 07759 016470.

Craig and Max are try-stars

MAX Dearman and Craig Martin Gowing scored three tries apiece as Haverhill under-10s started their season with a win and a defeat at home against Royston.

Both teams showed the full range of skills but it was the visitors who crossed for the opening score. Oscar Harwood turned over the ball, putting Martin Gowing away to level.

Charlie Harvey added a second as the sides traded scores. Dearman scored twice more, while Ronnie Short and Rohan Varia tackled the visitors to a standstill.

The industrious Oliver Loveridge scored from close range, but Royston crossed on the final whistle to steal the result 30-25.

The second match saw Connor Gillingham, on his debut, impress with his ball skills and tackling, while Freddie Atkins also made his first appearance, packing down in the front row, and John Adams marshalled the backs with authority.

Quickfire scores from Martin Gowing (2) and Dearman put daylight between the teams early on, while Luke Wheeler linked well with the backs, making some driving runs up the field.

Harvey added a fourth before a Royston onslaught returned, but Haverhill's resistance saw them claim a 20-15 victory.

■ Haverhill under-nines won one, drew one and lost one against Royston.

Riley Brown got them off to a good start with an early try in the first match, and went on to score four in the first half. With Josh Branley going in at the corner, Haverhill had a 25-5 lead at half time.

But the visitors fought back after the break, scoring five tries without reply. It took good work from Aidan Denty and Alex Baker to send Branley in for his second to level the game at 30-30 at the death.

The second game saw Haverhill play a completely fresh Royston team and this showed as they crossed the line three times without reply.

Haverhill pulled one back as Ben Warren ducked and weaved through four challenges before crossing the line.

Brown was then played in by Branley to cross the line again after good movement from Rohan Surti and Denty.

Haverhill never gave up despite conceding seven and had the last word when Brown scored a late try to make the final score 35-15.

The final game saw Haverhill come out fired up and Baker combined with Warren for the latter to score.

Great tackling from Surti and Sam Davis stopped Royston's attack and quickly turned the ball over for Brown to score. Royston scored two tries of their own, but Haverhill pulled away to win 35-10, Brown finishing with four touchdowns and Branley with two.

■ Haverhill under-sevens and eights played a total of 16 matches against Royston.

The squad was: Ewan Grey, Amelia Grey, Kofe Brandt, Elijah Brandt, Oliver Garner, Oliver Brown, Mason Gillingham, Maddox Claydon, Bradley Peachey, Orlando Crook, Rian Carmoody, Angus Duckworth, Jack Davis, Joe Starr, James Harmer, Oscar Clay, Marcel Cory, Oscar Harvey, John Fahy, Paddy Fahy, Arun Varia and Nathan Smith.

Murphy lays down law in cup victory

West Wrattling 13
Bassingbourn 0
CAMBS CUP, UNDER-13

FIVE-GOAL Ethan Murphy led Wrattling to an emphatic win.

Wrattling laid siege to the visitors' goal from the outset with Ronnie Ledwith and Aiden Comer dominating midfield.

Keirnan Harding hit the bar twice before Murphy broke the deadlock, swooping on a defensive mistake to slot home.

Daniel Cordwell skilfully rounded two defenders and fired home the second, and Murphy quickly added the third. The fourth saw defenders Joshua Santry and Rory Cameron set up William Coleman to cross perfectly for Cordwell to score.

Murphy secured his hat-trick before half time and after the break added Wrattling's sixth after fine play by Jayden Bayford.

Keiron Lindsay set up Murphy, whose perfectly weighted pass split the defence for Bayford to fire home No 7.

Further goals came from man of the match Murphy, Holden, Coleman, Bayford (2) and Dan Green on his return from injury.

■ Doubles from Cameron Reid and Finley Plant and one from Jack Lisher saw West Wrattling to a 5-0 win over Cottenham United in the Cambs Mini League Knockout Cup, under-11.

Thurlow 5 Girton 1
CAMBRIDGE & DIST COLTS LEAGUE,

THURLOW continued their good league form with a strong display.

Stearn's ball into the box against Callum Williamson and the ball ended up in the net.

Stearn soon followed with his first of the game, beating the keeper from close range, and Ryan Mule made it 3-0 when his drive from outside the box nicked a defender and wrong-footed the keeper.

Williamson and Mule were thwarted by the keeper as it remained 3-0 at half time.

Girton pulled one back after the break, but a stunning strike from Stearn restored Thurlow's advantage, and Billy Bush added a well-deserved fifth.

Wisbech St Mary 2
Wickhambrook 1
CAMBRIDGE & DIST COLTS LEAGUE,
UNDER-17A

WICKHAMBROOK can consider themselves unfortunate to come away from this fixture against last season's champions empty-handed.

James Percy had a chance saved early on, and his side took the lead midway through the first half when Jack Whiting and James Percy combined to set up David Crowley to fire home from 16 yards.

It remained that way at half time, and Crowley went close to extending the lead after the break, but was denied by the keeper's legs.

Wisbech equalised after a lightning break from a Wickhambrook corner, the forward sprinting away and slotting under Richard Padmore. Crowley smashed a shot against the post, and the hosts then took the lead with a far-post header.

Brook rallied, and Sam Clayton and Percy both saw efforts cleared off the line as they went agonisingly close to an equaliser. Man of the match was Jordan Cowdrey.

Kedington 3 Walpole Warriors 0
CAMBRIDGE & DIST COLTS LEAGUE,
UNDER-15A

AN even first half ended with Kedington taking the lead when Leon Bailey's free kick was punched clear, but Conor Rankin collected the loose ball and found Ty Alleyne, who spun and converted from six yards.

The second half saw Kedington on top, and Mustoe set up Alleyne to score at the second attempt after his blistering initial shot was saved.

Lewis Head then combined with Alleyne to create the third for Mustoe.

Mumford tops the Orange order of merit

Aces: The youngsters who competed in the second event of the County Tour Circuit for the winter season hosted by Haverhill Tennis Club. CP

JOSHUA Mumford's 100 per cent record saw him win Haverhill Tennis Club's second event in the County Tour Circuit.

Mumford won all five of his matches in the Orange Mini Tournament for children aged nine and under, to add victory to his recent Red County Tour event at Haverhill.

Six players from five different clubs played the best of three tie-breaks against each other, with a lot of the games going to the third tie-break.

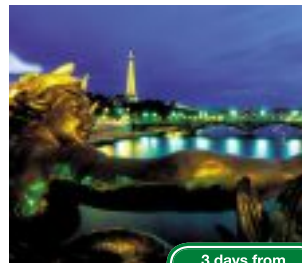

Liam Swarbrick of Newmarket finished second, ahead of Patrick Kopeny (East Anglian) and Haverhill's Matt Magin on points difference.

Forshaw's a Vase cracker

Ipswich Wdrs 2
(after extra time)
FA VASE, FIRST ROUND

AARON Forshaw was the hero as HSA finally saw off 10-man Ipswich to become the first Haverhill side to reach the second round of the Vase since 1993.

The hosts were given a dream start to Sunday's tie when Wanderers' Nick Albins was shown a red card for a two-footed lunge inside the first two minutes.

Nevertheless, the visitors took the lead three minutes later when Craig Jennings fired past Liam Cutts.

Ryan Weaver levelled just before the half-hour, and it remained 1-1 at half time.

HSA took the lead midway through the second half when a cross was not cleared and the ball fell to Forshaw, whose 20-yard strike found the net.

Forshaw nearly extended the lead after rounding the Ipswich keeper, but the touch was heavy and he could not find the net.

And, with five minutes left, the visitors sent the tie into extra time when Nile Francis bundled the ball past Cutts.

Chances were few and far between in the extra period as tired legs took hold, but just before the break, Owen Longley's cross fell to Forshaw just outside the area, and his precise volley found the bottom corner.

The Reds survived a nervy finish, and have been drawn at home to Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division side Dereham Town in the second round on November 17.

However, Haverhill Rovers crashed out of the Vase on Saturday, beaten 2-0 at home by Southend Manor.

After a goalless first half, Ryan Henshaw headed a corner powerfully past Elliott Anderson into his own net to give the visitors the lead.

The same player nearly made amends, just failing to get on the end of a Jack Higgs free kick in the 63rd minute, and Higgs sent a shot just over the bar as Rovers hunted an equaliser.

Substitute Shaun Banham saw a shot blocked by Southend keeper Adam Seal and, deep into injury time and with Anderson up for a corner, Southend broke quickly and found the unguarded net.

■ Manager Peter Betts hailed his team's reaction to the Vase defeat after they eased to a 5-1 win at home to Godmanchester Rovers in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division on Tuesday night. Dan Cornwell set them on their way midway through the first half and Jake Twinn made it 2-0.

Rovers reduced the deficit after some sloppy Haverhill defending but Henshaw made it 3-1 on the stroke of half time.

Greg Strong extended the lead further in the 50th minute, with Higgs rounding off the scoring just before the hour.

Peter Betts said: "I was looking for a reaction after the defeat in the Vase at the weekend and I certainly got it.

"The final score was actually quite generous to Godmanchester. They've been in good form lately and are better than some of the other teams we've played, but we could have won by a lot more."

Rovers are away to Diss in the league on Saturday.
